PART 2 – ACCESS TO INFORMATION HELD BY PUBLIC AUTHORITIES

8 Right of access to information held by public authorities

- (1) Subject to this Act, every person who is resident in the Island has a legally enforceable right to obtain access, in accordance with this Act, to information held by a public authority.
- (2) In this Act, information is “held” by a public authority if it is held –
 - (a) by the public authority, otherwise than on behalf of another person; or
 - (b) by another person for or on behalf of the public authority.
- (3) Nothing in this Act requires a public authority to –
 - (a) create or derive information from information that it holds;
 - (b) undertake research into, or analysis of, information that it holds; or
 - (c) undertake substantial compilation or collation of information that it holds.
- (4) Nothing in this Act limits the powers of a public authority to lawfully disclose information held by it.

9 Requests for information

- (1) A person who is resident in the Island and who wishes to obtain access to information held by a public authority may request the information.
- (2) The request for information must –
 - (a) be in the form required by the Chief Secretary; and
 - (b) be accompanied by the fee for making a request for information (if any) prescribed by regulations.
- (3) The Chief Secretary must specify a form for the purposes of subsection (2)(a).
- (4) The Chief Secretary may specify different forms for requests to different public authorities.
- (5) The form must –
 - (a) require the applicant to provide the following information –
 - (i) the applicant’s name;
 - (ii) an address for correspondence; and
 - (iii) an adequate description of the information requested; and
 - (b) be completed in such a way as to be –

- (i) legible; and
 - (ii) capable of subsequent reference.
- (6) The form may be transmitted by electronic means.

10 Requests taken to relate to information held at time of request

- (1) A request for information is taken to relate to information held at the time when the request is received.
- (2) Account may be taken of any amendment or deletion made between the time when the request for information is received and the time when it is to be communicated, but only if the amendment or deletion would have been made regardless of the receipt of the request.

11 Grant of requests for information

- (1) A public authority must give the applicant the information requested in the applicant's request for information and must do so in accordance with this Act.
- (2) However, a public authority may refuse to give the applicant the information requested if —
 - (a) the information is absolutely exempt information or qualified exempt information;
 - (b) a practical refusal reason applies and cannot be removed, despite the public authority complying with the duty in section 15 (advice and assistance); or
 - (c) the applicant has not complied with section 14(2) (applicant must give additional information or pay additional fees requested within 28 days).
- (3) In this Act —

“absolutely exempt information” is information covered by a provision of Part 3;

“practical refusal reason” means one or more of the following —

- (a) the public authority does not hold or cannot, after taking reasonable steps to do so, find the information that the applicant has requested;
- (b) complying with the request for information would require the public authority to do one or more of the matters mentioned in section 8(3) (things a public authority is not required to do by the Act);
- (c) the applicant has submitted a request for information that does not comply with section 9 (requests for information);

- (d) the request for information is vexatious, malicious, frivolous, misconceived or lacking in substance;
- (e) both of the following apply —
 - (i) the request for information relates to information that is identical, or substantially similar, to information previously requested by, and supplied to, the applicant; and
 - (ii) a reasonable period of time has not passed between compliance with the previous request and the making of the current request;
- (f) the public authority estimates that the cost of searching for or preparing (or both) the information to give to the applicant would exceed the amount prescribed by regulations made for the purposes of this paragraph; and

“qualified exempt information” is information to which both of the following apply —

- (a) the information is covered by a provision of Part 4; and
- (b) the public interest in maintaining the exemption outweighs the public interest in disclosing the information.

12 Standard processing period for responding to requests

- (1) A public authority must respond to a request for information in accordance with this Act promptly and, in any event, within the standard processing period.
- (2) In this Act —

“standard processing period” means —

- (a) the period of time that —
 - (i) starts on the day on which the public authority receives the request for information; and
 - (ii) ends on the day that is 20 working days later; or
- (b) such other period of time as is prescribed by regulations; and

“respond to a request for information” means taking any step in relation to a request for information with a view to deciding whether to grant or refuse (to any extent) to give the information requested, and includes making that decision.

(N.B. This section does not prejudice the requirements of Article 52 of the applied GDPR (as defined in SD 2018/0145) and must not be applied insofar as it will conflict with the provisions of the said Article 52.)²

13 Extended processing period for responding to requests involving qualified exempt information

- (1) This section applies if, in responding to a request for information during the standard processing period, the public authority is considering whether the public authority may refuse to give the applicant the information requested because the information is qualified exempt information.
- (2) If this section applies, the authority must —
 - (a) during the standard processing period, notify the applicant that this section applies;
 - (b) respond to the request for information as soon as is reasonable in the circumstances; and
 - (c) give reasonable notice (both during the standard processing period and afterwards) to the applicant about the progress of the applicant's request for information.

(N.B. This section does not prejudice the requirements of Article 52 of the applied GDPR (as defined in SD 2018/0145) and must not be applied insofar as it will conflict with the provisions of the said Article 52.)³

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2)(b), the period of time that is reasonable in the circumstances is to be determined having regard to —
 - (a) the time required to consult with —
 - (i) a person who may be affected by disclosure of the information; or
 - (ii) a person about whether access to the information would be in the public interest; or
 - (b) whether responding to the request for information would substantially or unreasonably interfere with the day-to-day operations of the public authority.

14 Public authority may request additional information and fees

- (1) A public authority may, by notice —
 - (a) request from an applicant information that —
 - (i) the public authority reasonably requires to identify the information requested; or
 - (ii) if the public authority believes on reasonable grounds that the applicant is not resident in the Island, proves that the applicant is so resident; or
 - (b) require the applicant to pay fees (in addition to a fee (if any) payable under section 9(2)(b)), calculated in accordance with regulations, in order to comply with the request for information.

- (2) The applicant must comply with the notice within 28 days of the date of the notice.
- (3) Any time between the date of the notice given under subsection (1) and the applicant complying with the notice is disregarded for the purposes of determining when the standard processing period ends.

15 Duty to provide advice and assistance

A public authority must give reasonable advice and assistance to persons who wish to make, or who have made, requests for information held by the public authority.

16 Manner of compliance

- (1) A public authority may comply with a request for information by any reasonable means.
- (2) However, if, at the time of making the request for information, the applicant expresses a preference for receiving the information by any one or more of the means mentioned in subsection (3), the public authority must, where reasonably practicable, give effect to that preference.
- (3) The means are —
 - (a) the provision of a copy of the information in permanent form or in another form acceptable to the applicant;
 - (b) the provision of a digest or summary of the information; and
 - (c) the provision to the applicant of a reasonable opportunity to inspect a record containing the information.
- (4) In determining what is reasonably practicable, the public authority may have regard to all the circumstances, including cost.
- (5) If the public authority determines that it is not reasonably practicable to give effect to a preference, it must notify the applicant of the reasons for the determination.

17 Refusal of requests

- (1) A public authority must give an applicant a refusal notice if, in relation to a request for information, a public authority decides, in accordance with section 11(2), to refuse to give the information requested.
- (2) The public authority is not obliged to give a refusal notice in relation to a request for information if —
 - (a) the public authority has, in relation to a previous identical or substantially similar request for information, given the applicant a refusal notice; and

- (b) it would in all the circumstances be unreasonable to expect it to serve a further such notice in relation to the current request for information.

18 Content of refusal notice

- (1) Subject to section 19 (confirming or denying existence of particular information), a refusal notice must —
 - (a) specify the reason why the public authority may refuse to give the applicant the information requested in the request for information;
 - (b) if the information is absolutely exempt information or qualified exempt information, state (if not otherwise apparent) why the exemption applies;
 - (c) if the information is absolutely exempt information because of section 20 (information accessible by other means), state the other means by which it is accessible; and
 - (d) contain particulars of —
 - (i) the procedure for complaining to the public authority about the public authority's response to the request for information or applying to the Information Commissioner under section 42; and
 - (ii) the alternative dispute resolution processes available under section 44.
- (2) If the public authority's claim is made in respect of qualified exempt information, the refusal notice must state the public authority's reason for claiming that, in all the circumstances of the case, the public interest in maintaining the exemption outweighs that in disclosure of the information.

19 Confirming or denying existence of particular information

- (1) Nothing in this Act requires a public authority to confirm or deny whether it holds information of the description specified in the request for information if the confirmation or denial would itself be absolutely exempt information or qualified exempt information.
- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply if the only reason for refusing to confirm or deny whether it holds information is that the information is accessible by other means.
- (3) If a public authority refuses to confirm or deny whether it holds information the public authority must give the applicant a refusal notice.
- (4) Sections 18(1)(c) and 18(2) (about the contents of refusal notices) do not apply to a refusal notice given under this section.

PART 3 – ABSOLUTELY EXEMPT INFORMATION

20 Information accessible to applicant by other means

- (1) Information is absolutely exempt information if it is reasonably accessible to the applicant, whether free of charge or on payment, other than by requesting it under section 9(1) (requests for information).

 - (a) it is available in public libraries or archives;
 - (b) it is available on the internet or from any other reasonably accessible source;
 - (c) it is made available under a publication scheme; or
 - (d) the public authority that holds it, or any other person, is obliged by or under any enactment to supply it to members of the public on request.
- (3) Information is not reasonably accessible merely because it is made available voluntarily by a public authority, otherwise than under a publication scheme (if any).

21 Court information

 - (b) its disclosure under this Act would, or would be likely to, in the reasonable opinion of the appropriate person specified in subsection (3), prejudice the effective conduct of parliamentary business.
- (2) A certificate signed by the appropriate person specified in subsection (3) certifying that the exemption is required to avoid —
 - (a) in a case to which subsection (1)(a) applies, that infringement of privileges; or
 - (b) in a case to which subsection (1)(b) applies, that prejudice, is conclusive evidence of that fact.
